About the Course:

A project proposal is a project management document that's used to define the objectives and requirements of a project. It helps organizations and external project stakeholders agree on an initial project planning framework. The main purpose of a project proposal is to get buy-in-form decision-makers. That's why a project proposal outlines our project's core value proposition. It sells value to both internal and external project stakeholders. The intent of the proposal is to grab stakeholder and project sponsor attention. Once you have people's attention, the next step is getting them excited about the project summary. Study on project proposal formulation will enhance knowledge of students which is more pertinent in field of social work and will add value in their skill for future accomplishments.
